Spacing Out The Networks

Can a $6.5 million show tailor-made for national TV survive rejection by all three networks and win success anyway? The Independent Television Corp., the producer of Space: 1999, has few doubts that its elaborate new science-fiction adventure series can do just that. This fall it will be aired over local stations in the ten top television markets and in 136 other cities around the country. With confidence bordering on brashness, I.T.C. predicts that it is giving the networks their biggest ever prime-time challenge and in the process producing the season's first big hit.

Space is the glossiest and one of the most expensive new shows of the fall season. It is a futuristic Arthurian fantasy in which 311 workers in a lunar space station are cut off from earth when a giant explosion hurls the moon onto an uncharted trajectory. Led by the intrepid commander, John Koenig, the crew overcomes such obstacles as Gwent, the man turned machine; Arra (played by Margaret Leighton), the queen of the enormous planet Astheria; and the temptress of the heavens, the Guardian of Piri. The special effects far exceed anything on Star Trek. They include fleets of hovering cockroach-shaped spaceships, squads of yellow moon buggies and an array of enticing equipment from whatever passes for the Abercrombie & Fitch of intergalactic travel. Laser beams are flashed around like Saturday night specials.

Koenig and his crew wear interchangeable unisex gear designed by Rudi Gernreich. The stars are Martin Landau and Barbara Bain, the hit team of Mission: Impossible. There is even the nucleus of an audience ready for Space: the Trekkies who have been homeless since 1969, when Star Trek went off the air. Dedicated cultists, they have made do with reruns, conventions and newsletters as they wait for big-time sci fi to come back to the small screen.

None of this, however, meant a thing to the networks when they were offered the series last spring. All three turned it down. I.T.C. promptly sold its package—24 original shows with 28 mandatory reruns—here and in 101 foreign countries. Ninety-five percent of the U.S. stations planning to air Space are affiliates of the networks. Most of them are scheduling it in prime time, pre-empting such new shows as The Invisible Man, Fay and Phyllis and established hits like Rhoda, Cher and Sanford and Son. Space's success could not only bite deeply into the audience ratings for network shows, but perhaps even sink a couple in the first few critical weeks.

Metropolitan Atlanta now has over 1,750,000

LOCUS

THE NEWSPAPER OF THE SCIENCE FICTION FIELD

14TH YEAR OF PUBLICATION

HUGO WINNER

In its monthly issues, LOCUS covers the science fiction field completely. For professionals, there are up-to-date market reports, news of editorial changes, stories on sales, and various columns on the craft of writing. For readers, complete lists of sf books published, reviews, media notes, forthcoming books, upcoming conventions, convention reports, contents of forthcoming anthologies and magazines, reader surveys, LOCUS Awards and much more.

Isaac Asimov: "There is no way, for anyone fascinated by science fiction, to get out of reading LOCUS. It is the Time magazine and Walter Winchell of the field. It misses nothing, tells everything, keeps you abreast and in the swim, and I wouldn't be without it.—And I won't be for I have put down the money for a lifetime subscription."

Ben Bova: "LOCUS is the science fiction newsletter. No one who is interested in the field should be without it."

Marion Zimmer Bradley: "LOCUS is where I look first for shop talk—it is the real trade paper of science fiction. There have been times when I first heard through LOCUS, (not my agent) that a new book of mine is on the stands."

Algis Budrys: "Without a doubt, the single most valuable periodical within the SF community; a labor of devotion, a bulletin board, a monument."

Arthur C. Clarke: "LOCUS is the only periodical I read from cover to cover—including adverts!"

Fritz Leiber: "LOCUS has been both a pioneering publication and a consistently high performer. This little magazine sets the standards for accuracy and scope in its reporting of the news in the science fiction and fantasy publishing fields, and for level-headed interpretation of that news. I read it regularly."

Michael Moorcock: "As one who is notorious for his dislike of the social aspects of the SF world, I can say fairly that LOCUS is the only journal I know which retains a clear-sighted and impartial perspective on it. It's the only SF journal that I see regularly or would wish to see regularly."

The New York Times: "Anyone whose interest in SF extends beyond reading it to wanting to read about it should be aware of LOCUS."

Frederik Pohl: "Charlie Brown has been a close friend for nearly twenty years, so anything I might say is suspect—but LOCUS is the most important publication in science fiction today."

Judy-Lynn del Rey: "LOCUS has become the Publishers Weekly of science fiction. It's must reading for anyone and everyone at all involved in the field."

Lester del Rey: "LOCUS is the one indispensable source of information for every reader and writer of science fiction. That's why I have a lifetime subscription."

Robert Silverberg: "LOCUS is indispensable."

Theodore Sturgeon: "Anyone who is remotely interested in the many aspects of SF must—I said must—be, or get, familiar with LOCUS."

Peter Straub: "I think it's the most pertinent magazine I get, and I'm very grateful that I subscribed."

The Wall Street Journal: "... the science fiction trade magazine ..."

Roger Zelazny: "For professionals and devotees alike, LOCUS is the world's most important publication about science fiction."

Moon Leaves Earth's Orbit

Koenig Orders Immediate Return

Thousands of astounded humans and hundreds of frustrated suitors watched today as the moon blasted its way out of Earth's orbit.

Commander Koenig took immediate control of the situation by ordering the moon to resume its orbit or face disciplinary action.

Two security guards were killed in the ensuing struggle. Their names were not released because their next of kin were already notified when they joined security.

Times Win Award

The Tunnel Times was recently awarded the coveted Underwriter's Laboratory Award for having the most out-of-date story ever printed in a newspaper.

The story "Moon Leaves Earth's Orbit" was originally scheduled for the Sept. 14th issue, but was dropped at the last minute in favor of the volleyball scores.

The same story was dropped from all subsequent issues for similar reasons.

The story was finally salvaged by the Alpha Procrastinators Society, as a part of their New Year's pledge to catch up on the news.

Crimewave Strikes Base

Security Chief Tony Verdeschi has announced the establishment of a special task force to help halt the recent crime wave that has struck Alpha.

Aside from the usual supply disappearances, large numbers of valuable Eagle parts have been reported missing as well as special equipment from computer supplies.

Current theory has it that the perpetrators plan to open their own moonbase.

Chief Verdeschi announced that the new task force will consist of non-security personnell, who will be given over twenty minutes of intensive training.

Verdeschi also released this picture of an Eagle, razed by vandals. A reward has been offered for the person or persons responsible.

The big entertainment news on Alpha this week was the premier of the newly resurrected cult classic "Alien". TTT asked Captain Alan Carter about the movie "It was a nice action-ad

Unknown Force Captured

Alpha scientific circles were awash today with the news of the capture of what had previously been labled as a "mysterious unknown force."

The "force" was taken in the Bata Cappa Gamma Sigma Nu system near the planet Waring.

The unknown force, described as 17 ft., 3 inches, and weighing ten pounds, declined to comment when questioned.

Sources close to the investigation report that the "force" closely resembles a silly putty model of the Eiffel Tower, tied together with shoestrings and smelling like oatmeal cookies.

No photographs have been released, but this artists conception was rendered from the description given

PERIPATETIC

Peripatetic, the formerly all Fantastic Journey fanzine, has changed its format for the second issue to include all SF. Issue two has an emphasis on Space: 1999. The zine includes 1999 fiction by Bonnie J. Yoman, Gail Zehner, and Rebecca Eisenhuth. Additional fiction in the SF vein from Christine Hantzopulos and Michele Yardimian. Art from Munson, Eisenhuth, Harrill and Yardumian. Humour from George Eichler, Chris Hantzopulos, Bill Dotson and "What's It All About Alpha," the 1999 musical from Alice Newsom and the entire Georgia Delegation.
