....earlier this year, MARK HAMILL was doing commercials for the March of Dimes...Meanwhile, C3PO and R2D2 were commissioned by the Department of Health and Human Services to do an ad encouraging people to stop smoking. Poor R2D2 had to be the one caught smoking by his bothersome friend...LISA HARROW (Anna Davis in "Testament of Arkadia") was in Virginia earlier this year filming NANCY, a BBC-Time-Life Television co-production on the life of Nancy Astor, the audacious American who became the first woman member of Britain's Parliament. Lisa was cast in the title role....Rasovsky's National Radio Theater of Chicago cast BARRY MORSE as the lead in its production of THE ODYSSEY. Other cast members included Irene Worth, Shepperd Studwick and John Glover, with Ed Asner as the host....

BONNIE YOMAN, of Petersburg, Michigan, writes:

> Did anyone else hear Barbara Bain on the radio talk show, "Satellite Live" out of Los Angeles? She was on it on Sunday, August 16th. I was lucky enough to get through and talk with her awhile, telling her about the Con and asking her a MISSION: IMPOSSIBLE trivia question. She said she'd heard about the rumored MISSION: IMPOSSIBLE movie, said she and Martin might be interested, depending on the quality of the script. She's busy with several projects now, including co-producing "a property we own" with Martin.

....AND OF GLOBETROTTERS AND GILLIGAN....

REBECCA EISENHUTH, of Bloomington, California, writes that a review of the TV-movie, THE HARLEM GLOBETROTTERS ON GILLIGAN'S ISLAND appeared in the local papers. Entitled "'Gilligan' saga dribbles on", the review was less than complimentary about the special, saving the only favorable comments for the Landaus. Written by Bill Hayden, of the Gannett News Service, the review reads, in part:

> "This time around, the adventure centers on the Harlem Globetrotters, whose plane crash lands on the tiny South Pacific atoll inhabited by Gilligan and company. They find themselves drafted into playing basketball in a winner-take-all game against a team of robots belonging to a mad scientist who wants sole possession of the island. // The only possible excuse for watching this electronic lobotomy is to see Martin Landau and Barbara Bain take delicious liberties with the roles of the malicious scientist and his partner."

ROSIE BADGETT, of Covington, Kentucky, writes a slightly kinder review:

> It all started with a newspaper article: "Landau-Bain on Island". Well, Yours Truly went bananas! It told of the Landaus' joining the cast of a new special, "The Harlem Globetrotters on Gilligan's Island", currently being filmed. Oh, dear, I wondered...will we have to wait until Fall? The answer came three weeks later, when we learned that our NBC affiliate, in their infinite wisdom, would preempt the special in favor of a Reds baseball game. Aauugghh! But fear not, another station had picked up the option to show it on Friday, May 15, 1981.
> I decided this was a special occasion and planned a very special party. Anyone who knows this Kentucky Delegation knows the craziness we can cook up (right, Ann and Mare?). We are all true-blue, die-hard Barbara Bain fans. We call her "Babs" with great love and respect. Plans were therefore made for a "Welcome back, Babs!" party. Darryl was in charge of ordering the ice cream cake and I took care of the rest.
> Finally, the big night arrived. I had decorated the room and set up the video recorder. I was wearing one of my Barbara t-shirts and jeans. The others soon arrived, and it's too bad nobody took pictures that night. Darryl was all decked out in one of his suits...Paul was wearing his Dracula cape...Sue was the only normal person. Two members were absent: Rob was at a graduation party, and only Chet knows where he was!
> Now, none of us were expecting an Emmy-winning script, but "Gilligan" always gave us a good chuckle or two. The plot was rather amusing. It seems that an old arch-rival of Thurston Howell III, J.J. Pearson (Martin) had discovered a new energy source in the form of a glowing rock (no, the script was not written by Freiburger...)in a cave on their island. He calls it Supremium, and with it he can control the world. Now his partner, Olga (Barbara), has managed to "squeeze" the rock and make "Supremium juice". She is a Russian scientist (whose last name I refuse to try to spell!). J.J. has a robot named George, whom he sends to the island to scare the castaways, but the plot fails. (At one point, he used a deadly spider and poor Darryl crawled under my bed and refused to come out!) When George reports the failure, poor J.J. is terribly upset, but Olga hugs him and says, "You will think of some mean and rotten plan; you always do."
> Enter the Harlem Globetrotters! Their plane ditched in the ocean and they found their way to the island. J.J. and Olga come to the island themselves to set their plan in motion. One by one, they trick the castaways into signing over their share of the island.

Now J.J. and Howell Jr. are always placing bets against one another, and J.J. always wins. Now he proposes a basketball game--his Invincibles vs. the Globetrotters, with the winner taking over the island. The Invincibles are robots designed by Olga, and what follows is a riotous basketball game! The Globetrotters are losing 99 to 3 when they decide to use their infamous tricks to confuse the robots. Well, it works, and they win. But J.J. doesn't mind, because he's had the Supremium removed from the cave during the game, and placed aboard his yacht. Unfortunately, it's very unstable in temperatures over 78 degrees, and it explodes. J.J. and Olga, defeated, go off in tears.

As I said, the special won't win any Emmy's...but the winning team of Landau-Bain made the show!

SPACECON'81

POST CON UPDATE:

All feedback so far on Con '81 has been very good. In spite of numerous difficulties (PATCO strike, state of the economy, the series of murders in Atlanta, to name a few), this year's gathering came off quite well. It was smaller in numbers than usual, but a strong family atmosphere prevailed, giving everyone, from experienced congoers to first-timers, a better chance to get to know one another.

A sincere thank you is in order for the Con '81 Georgia committee of Ron and Marilea Butler, Alice Newsom and Juanita Cunningham for their year's work on this convention. It couldn't have been done without them. They added several new touches, most notable of which were the handmade trophies for the costume contest, and the initiation of a graffitti poster. (And if you, too, were pleased with their work, fellow congoers, why not write and tell them? You can get in touch with the con committee through Ron and Marilea Butler, Castaways Apts. C-11, Leisure Lake Rd., Warner Robins, GA 31093.)

Barry Gray

Thanks also to all our other faithful convention workers and to southern section rep Ann Hester for her leadership with our hardworking go-fers. It truly takes a load off those in command of the entire event to have such a wonderful group of people to work with.

Finally, a very special thanks to our three wonderful guests: Mr. Barry Gray, Ms. Suzanne Roquette and Mr. David Hirsch of Starlog magazine. David very generously came to visit us at his own expense.

Suzanne was the first lady from the series to attend one of our conventions, and we must say it makes a most enjoyable change (nothing against the fellows...). She is a very charming and goodnatured person, who took all the strange and new experiences of a first con in her stride. (Suzanne also recently wrote to tell everyone what a lovely time she had meeting everyone and seeing so much interest in the 1999 universe. She sends her best regards to all.)

David Hirsch

Barry was his usual witty and entertaining self; a very interesting and talented gentleman. Thank you, Barry, also for your continued generous support of our charity auction.

David Hirsch gave two slide presentations on SPACE:1999, brought auction items, and showed the very entertaining STARLOG BIRTHDAY FANTASY FILM. (This is a very inexpensive film for small groups--or large gatherings, for that matter--to rent.) David was also of great assistance in other aspects of the con.

After all convention expenses were paid, a donation of $1,135.34 was sent to Egleston Hospital for Children in Atlanta; this quite respectable amount was generated despite our smaller-than-usual turnout for the con. Mr. James E. Carson, Director of Development at the hospital, wrote to say:

> "...let me express warm appreciation to you and the SPACE:1999 cast and crew for your generous gift....We were sorry that the air traffic controllers strike affected your attendance, but are grateful that your auction still generated a substantial gift. Please convey to your membership our congratulations for your support of children's hospitals around the country."

Complete details on Con '81, from every event to loads of photos, are in the postcon report. (Check the photo/merchandise list enclosed with this newsletter.)

LETTERS! WE GET LETTERS!!....

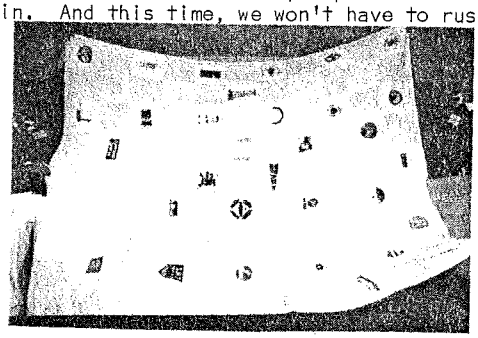

KAREN DOMAIN writes:

"THE WRITERS GROUP IS BACK! Saturday morning at the con a small group gathered to determine the future of the project originally headed by Diana Winslow called the Writers Group. It seems there is still a need for the project and everyone is just as enthusiastic about it as ever. The group is for everyone, and centers around helping writers in their efforts to produce original fan fiction they can be confident about. If you'd like to participate, send a SASE to Writers Group, 209 Pittston Circle, Owings Mills, MD 21117.

"A special thanks to everyone who managed to attend!!!"

LINDA WHITTEN, of San Diego, CA, writes:

"While it has been seven weeks since my friend, John Bishop and I have attended your Alliance Con '81, it is still memorable in our minds due to the smoothness with which it was handled. We sincerely hope we will be remembered for Alliance Con '82 as we wish sincerely to come back again. And this time, we won't have to rush off Sunday afternoon to go home!"

MARY TCHIR, of Portland, OR, writes:

"An open letter to all who so generously helped us with our 'project'--the SPACE:1999 quilt we made for the Con '81 auction.

"First the stars who autographed quilt pieces: Nick Tate, who was first to respond, bless him; Tony Anholt, Martin Landau and Barbara Bain, Catherine Schell, Prentis Hancock, Zienia Merton, Anton Phillips, Gerry Anderson and John Hug.

"Last, but not least, Barry Gray and Suzanne Roquette, who signed their squares as the quilt lay across the bed in Chuck Rau's hotel room.

"Then there are all the people who helped us obtain the signatures: Kathy and John Von Kamp, Mare Fitzgerald, Eileen Skidmore and Phyl Proctor, Steve Eramo. And not forgetting 'taskmaster' Linda Walker (Janet's sister), who gave us a lot of help putting the quilt together.

"We wish to sincerely thank each and every one of these people, without whom the quilt could not have been made. THANK YOU!" --Mary Tchir and Janet Walker

MARE FITZGERALD, McMurray, PA:

"Congratulations to the Georgia Delegation for organizing a superb convention...surely our best yet. Every detail was perfect, from a first-class program book to a great hotel to a fine-tuned schedule. A magnificent family reunion!"

TERRY SHEWMAKER, Visalia, CA:

"I had a great time! This was my first con of any sort, so didn't have a great many preconceived notions coming in. Everything was new, right down to a bit of jet lag (and discovering I can't sleep on airplanes). I just absorbed everything at first, like a happy little sponge. It's rather like a foreign language you've long felt at home reading and writing in, but suddenly for a weekend you're called upon to speak it! I met lots of people, including several of my penpals, like Steve Reder, who I still feel is most responsible for my having been there, as he got me into the Alliance. And people I knew 'on paper', by reputation, like Wayne and Todd Ellsworth and George Eichler and.... Our room alone represented the West and East Coasts, as well as the Midwest. (Even met a few Californians!) I know that this year's con has had its problems. Financially, it's been a difficult year for many of us. And this PATCO thing nobody could've forseen, coming as it did less than a week before the con. What worries me now is what influence all this will have on plans for next year's con. The good things, to me, and the potential for more, by far outweigh any of the bad. Friendships, new and old, made and reaffirmed. Meeting people whose work many of us have admired for a long time. Being happily up to our eyeballs in things Alphan! And especially our showing at the auction. That mustn't be lost."

CATHY CONRAD, Royston, GA:

"To the Con '81 Committee, the Presidents Von Kamp, and all involved in the convention: Congratulations on a con well done! I enjoyed it and hope to attend next year. Good luck on the fifth Alliance year, and may Con '82 be an even better success. Several possible locations were mentioned for the 1982 convention, two of which were Washington, D.C., and Arlington, Virginia, across the Potomac. Either of these cities could make Con '82 a Con to remember...."

CON '82

After much consideration (and not a small amount of hair pulling), we have decided to hold the convention in Springfield, Massachusetts. It was a difficult decision, but we feel that everyone will enjoy themselves at this location. And now, a little more about the con.

This year's convention committee will be headed by Chris Landry and Ed Miarecki. Many of you will recognize Chris as the president of the Springfield SPACE:1999 Club and publisher of the fanzine Alpha Log. Many of you should also recognize Ed Miarecki as one of the dealers who have been with us since the beginning and has been most conspicuous in the last three costume contests. The rest of the con committee is being contacted at this time and will be listed in future Main Computers.

The convention is being held in the Springfield Marriott hotel on July 30-August 1, 1982. The Marriott is a 265-room hotel located close to many of the city's sightseeing attractions such as the basketball hall of fame and the Quadrangle (four museums which cover American history) and more. It is located just off a major interstate highway and is within walking distance of the bus terminal which serves three major bus lines and the Amtrak terminal through which run two major routes (Montreal to Washington, D.C., and Chicago to Boston). It is within 20 minutes of Bradley International Airport, and there are hourly free shuttle runs from the hotel to the airport. A list of times will be provided later. Private shuttle service costs about $4.00 at this time. Parking at the hotel is $2.00/day, in an area designated for hotel guests only.

It should also be noted that the hotel is associated with the Baystate West shopping mall, a 90-store mall with all kinds of shops to browse through or eat in. There are several restaurants open 'til 10:30pm in addition to the two hotel restaurants, and a McDonald's open 24-hours within three blocks.

The hotel has in-room movies, car rentals, laundry service, indoor/outdoor pool, exercise room and saunas. All rooms are undergoing remodeling which will be completed in January of 1982.

For this convention, hotel costs are:

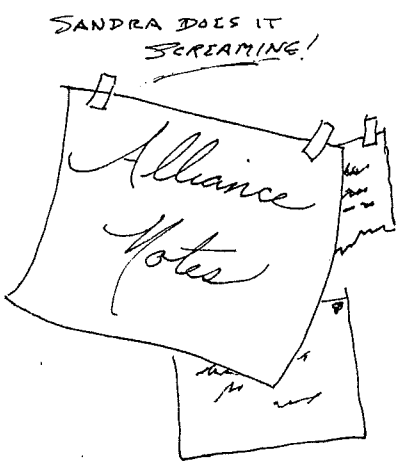

Single-$40/night Dbl-$46/night Triple-$52/night Quad-$58/night Suite-$165/night

Double bed for each person, extra cots/cribs free, children under 17 stay free with parents.

Credit cards honored: Visa, MasterCharge, American Express, Carte Blanche, Diners Club. If paying in cash, you must pay in advance.

Rooms must be booked at least three weeks in advance to assure confirmation; reservations must be made directly through the hotel by postpaid hotel cards (these will be furnished by the con committee--watch for further info in upcoming Main Computers).

Convention ticket costs will be listed in the next Main Computer.

It's not the years, it's the mileage.

With any kind of luck at all, this will give everyone better service. (The way the Postawful is organized, it needs all the help it can get!)

NEW SECTION REPS: Members in the Central Section (Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota) have new section reps. Lois and Dale Thelander of 318 South Street, Elgin, IL 60120 have taken over that position. (As was reported in Vol. 3, Lois and Dale met at Con '80 and were married around a year ago.)

CHRISTMAS CARDS TO SPACE:1999 CAST: Many of our past convention guests and other 1999 personalities can be sent Christmas or other holiday greetings through the Alliance or respective clubs as follows: PHFC members send through Mrs. Mare Fitzgerald for Prentis Hancock; Barry Morse fans contact Vivian Stanley's club; Nick Tate through the British Nick Tate Club. All others, including Gerry Anderson, Barry Gray, Dave Prowse, Herb Jefferson, Jr., will be sent in groups from Alliance HQ. Deadline for HQ arrival is December 1, 1981.
